CLS 105 College Learning Strategies 2017-2018 (3 credits)

Faculty: Marlene F. Blumin, Ph.D., Professor and Director, University Study Skills Program
Administrative Contact: Gerald S. Edmonds, Ph.D., Executive Director, Project Advance

CLS 105 is the study and application of strategic approaches to learning. Strategies are presented and practiced in order for you to maximize your learning in the context of lectures, readings, recitations, and independent learning situations. The course content is based on the application of strategies to the learning requirements of the courses you are enrolled in concurrently throughout the University. Class sessions are a series of lectures, discussions, and one-on-one conferences. You are required to participate in classes and conferences and apply the strategies in your other classes. Note: Students enrolled in CLS 105 must take another college-level or AP course in same semester.

In general, the goals of the course are for you to maximize your learning in college. An awareness of how you learn is examined through the development of a variety of learning strategies. We will explore strategies in the following ways: (1) what they are, (2) how to use them, (3) when to use them, (4) why they are effective, and (5) how to adapt them. You will create your own strategies by defining your goals, selecting strategies, implementing them and evaluating their effectiveness in your courses.
