Summary and Conclusion
Workshop Feedback

We'll have a visit from a local CRS 325 high school teacher and 3 on-campus instructors who are members of the SUPA team, who will address practical issues and answer questions about the day-to-day run of the course and visit expectations.

I have spread the topics in such a way that we will have ample time to review the chapters and deal with related instruction and assignments. The purpose of the workshop orientation is not to deal with every aspect of each chapter but rather to present the theme of each chapter and outline its objectives as well as suggest ways to develop suitable instructional material.

We will begin our daily workshop sessions at 9 a.m. We will take necessary breaks; stop for lunch; and end when adequate progress has been accomplished (somewhere around 2-3 p.m., with a shortened day on Friday).
